

Venezuelan Rebels Capture 2 Cities

NEW YORK (AP)—Private reports received by Venezuelan residents here this afternoon said rebel forces using tanks had captured the cities of Maracaibo and Caracas, the capital.

Citizenship Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—State Secretary Martin said in the Commons this afternoon he hopes to obtain first reading next week of a bill changing the Citizenship, Nationality, Naturalization and Status of Aliens Act.

Under the bill residents of Canada would be entitled to official use of the title "Canadian citizen." At present the residents are classed as "British subjects."

Given Naval Escort

CANBERRA (CP)—Arthur Fadden, leader of the Australian Country Party, said tonight that officers of the liner Esperanza Bay, which has been carrying repatriated Indonesians from Australia to Java, had sought and been provided a naval escort.

More Canned Salmon

OTTAWA (CP)—Fisheries Minister Bridges said this afternoon in the Commons 300,000 cases of British Columbia canned salmon will be released for civilian use in Canada this year. This is 50,000 cases more than last year.

Release by packers had already started he said. The bulk of this year's pack was going to the British government under allocation by the Combined Food Board.

No Reprieve Granted

VANCOUVER (CP)—William Hainen, 29-year-old former soldier, must die on the gallows at Oakalla Prison farm tomorrow, an attempt to have the death sentence commuted to life imprisonment has failed.

Hainen was convicted of murdering Olga Hawryluk, 23, Vancouver waitress, at English Bay beach in Vancouver last May, and sentenced. Appeals were dismissed by the B.C. Appeal Court and the Supreme Court of Canada.

Victorians Aboard

Robert Arriving With Repatriates

Ten Victoria ship's officers are among the crew of H.M.C.S. Prince Robert scheduled to arrive at Esquimalt at 9 a.m. Saturday morning with 58 Canadian repatriates from Japanese prisoner of war camps, including 18 civilians.

Commander of the ship is Capt. Wallace B. Creery of Ottawa. The officers are: Lieut. T. D. McGee, Lieut. R. P. Polisson, Skpr. Lieut. N. H. Hutten, Gnr. F. R. Massingham, Cdr. (E) C. F. Hinchcliffe, Wt. Engr. B. W. McIntosh, Wt. Engr. T. W. Gibbons, Wt. Eng. W. Elliot, Cdr. J. W. Hackney and Surg. Lt. W. G. McClure.

The Prince Robert, converted from her peacetime C.N.R. run to Alaska, escorted many of the Canadians to Hongkong before Pearl Harbor, was one of the first to return to that port with defeat of the Japanese, and now has the honor of bringing home some of the same men she protected in the earlier and fateful trip.

Built in 1931, the Prince Robert, with her two sister ships H.M.C.S. Prince Henry and Prince David, was converted as an auxiliary cruiser. Her first commander when she became a warship was Cmdr. Charles T. Beard.

In September, 1940, the Prince Robert, following a tip off of an enemy ship escaping from a Mexican port, made the capture of the German express-freighter Weser before the Nazi vessel could be scuttled by her crew.

A boarding party from the Prince Robert brought the prize here and the first German prisoners of World War II had reached Canadian soil.

At the time the Prince Robert escorted the Awatea, carrying the Canadians to Hongkong, Capt. F. G. Hart was commander.

She later returned to this coast and was converted to an anti-aircraft ship, the first Canadian navy had. From there she went to the Atlantic where she played a gallant part in fighting off the vicious Nazi bombers.

Arriving at Hongkong, the Robert's crew was mobbed by overjoyed released prisoners of war. She was the only ship in the British task force that relieved Hongkong to proceed to Kowloon on the nearby mainland where her job was to land troops and secure the dockyard area.

Next ship expected here with repatriates is the British aircraft carrier, H.M.S. Glory, which is scheduled to dock at Esquimalt Oct. 26 with 156 Canadians and 1,300 British aboard.

War Criminals' Trial Set for Nov. 20

One Nazi Leader Cries Like Baby At Indictment

NUERNBERG (AP)—The world's first great war criminals trial of 24 high Nazis and German militarists and industrialists will begin in Nuremberg Nov. 20, the International Military Tribunal announced today.

The date for the beginning of the proceedings to establish responsibility for the Second World War and its cruelties was set by the tribunal shortly after the massive indictments presented to the court Thursday at its first sitting in Berlin had been served on 23 of the defendants here in the Nuremberg jail.

The 24th defendant, Martin Bormann, apparently still is at large and probably will be tried in absentia.

The indictments were served on the defendants—politicians, militarists, industrialists and other functionaries in Hitler's Nazi regime—at 2:15 p.m. (4:15 a.m. P.S.T.).

GIVEN COPIES

Maj. Anthony Neave, a British lawyer, gave copies of the 24-page word accusation to the men in their cells.

Walther Funk, former economics minister and president of the Reichsbank, broke down when the indictment was handed to him.

Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl, chief of staff of the German army, calmly asked:

"From what category does counsel come? Do I choose a criminal lawyer or an international lawyer?"

He was told any lawyer would be acceptable.

Julius Streicher, Nazi editor of the anti-Jewish newspaper Der Sturmer, and Robert Ley, Nazi labor front leader, also asked about counsel.

Crying like a baby, Funk said: "I would like to see some officer appointed by the court in order to discuss my defence. I can request counsel at once, can't I?"

WORRIED OVER HEALTH

Told he would have every chance to see counsel, Funk shouted through his tears: "I am trying to preserve my health. I have the greatest interest in the conclusion of this trial."

Hans Frank, Nazi Governor-General for Poland, complained to the colonel in charge of guarding the prisoners that he needed more light in his cell, as "it gets dark so early."

"You all have to do your work in daylight," he was told. All electrical fixtures have been removed from the cells to prevent prisoners from using them for attempting suicide.

Hunted for trial—Martin Bormann.

Premier King Better Sees Most Members Of British Cabinet

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister King, recovered from a cold which inconvenienced him earlier in his fact-finding visit to the United Kingdom, has extended his talks to include a wide range of business and financial interests.

During the last week he has talked mostly with members of the British Cabinet and men closely connected with other parts of the Commonwealth and Empire.

Thursday night, however, he was one of the principal guests at the Harvelan commemoration dinner given at the Dorchester Hotel, where he is staying, by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons.

This is the largest function he has attended and it gave him a chance to talk to personages in many phases of the British government and business.

Members of the cabinet present included Prime Minister Attlee, Foreign Secretary Bevin, Viscount Addison, Dominions Secretary, and Lord Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty.

Representing the Conservatives were such men as Anthony Eden, former Foreign Secretary, and Capt. Oliver Lyttelton, former Minister of Trade and Production. Diplomats included the Russian, French and Chinese ambassadors.

675 Servicemen's Families Need Housing Here

There are 675 service families in Victoria in need of housing accommodation, Mrs. W. E. Rayfuse, head of the Emergency Shelter Registry here reported today.

With the Emergency Shelter Registry 206 families of discharged service personnel are registered for housing, 173 applications are on file from men still on active service. In addition there are 352 registered for the Wartime houses being built or being released from shipyard workers. Only 56 registered in both offices for accommodation, she said.

Of the 379 registered in the Shelter office, 99 are couples with no children, 178 have one child, 82 have two children, 10 have three children, and four have more than three children.

Only one is facing eviction at the present time, but 127 are living in hotels, 150 are living with relatives in crowded conditions, and 101 are forced to live in one room which is completely unsatisfactory.

In this group 217 of the men actually enlisted in Victoria and 162 enlisted elsewhere. During the first two weeks of this month 100 families were placed by the Registry office, and in September 218 families, or 530 people, were found accommodation.

Because of the desperate situation the Housing Registry is now making no effort to find accommodation for civilians who merely want to move, but taking applications only from discharged service personnel, people under eviction notice, or those facing some other genuine housing emergency.

Mrs. Rayfuse put in a special plea for anyone who had suites, houses or family accommodation coming vacant to register them with the Shelter office so that the servicemen could be given priority in their occupancy. "They should have the definite priority," she said, "and we are doing all we can to ensure it, but we have nothing on our files to offer them."

Labor Blocks Move To Limit Price Control

LONDON (CP)—Labor today blocked a move of the Conservative opposition to limit the government's price controls under the bill for a five-year retention of full wartime economic powers.

Urge War Brides Be Sent From Britain

When these three Toronto veterans, members of a delegation, saw Defence Minister Abbott in Ottawa Wednesday they asked that the government provide shipping space and speed the arrival of war brides in Canada. The minister, while he was sympathetic, pointed out that repatriation of Canadian troops must be the government's first consideration. It is estimated 20,000 war brides of Canadian soldiers and 8,400 children of these unions are still in the United Kingdom. Left to right above: Ross McEnaney, Norman Davison and W. T. Cooper.

Ford Plant Deadlock Continues; Threat of Meat Strike Stronger

By Canadian Press

A deadlock continued in the Ford Motor Company of Canada strike at Windsor, Ont., possibility of a united front among Canadian packing house workers in strike-threat demands for a 30 per cent wage increase was strengthened when workers in two more packing plants voted in favor of strike action.

Workers in plants where the strike votes were taken Thursday night—those in Hull, Que., and St. Boniface, Man.—are members of the United Packing House Workers of America (C.I.O.).

FEDERALLY CONTROLLED

Already members of that union in Burns and Company plants in Winnipeg, Regina, Prince Albert, Edmonton and Vancouver have endorsed strike action failing negotiation of a master agreement granting union demands. The plants were taken over by the Dominion government in an effort to avert a strike.

The master agreement will be discussed Oct. 24 when representatives of the three major packing companies and of the U.P.W.A. are scheduled to meet in Winnipeg with Mr. Justice S. E. Richards as mediator.

Mr. Justice Richards announced Thursday that talks set for Oct. 22 between the union and Burns and Company had been postponed two days and expanded to include the Swift Canadian Co. and Canada Packers Ltd.

Meanwhile the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada (A.F.L.) moved into the complicated packing house scene with the announcement in Ottawa that T.L.C. officials were to confer today in Montreal to discuss methods of opening negotiations with several large packing plants in Quebec and in the prairie provinces.

One Canadian strike ended and a back-to-work movement was to start this morning. The strike of Drumheller Valley coal miners in protest against meat rationing reached its end Thursday night and it is expected every striking miner in western Canada will go back to his job within the next few days.

GET WAGE INCREASE

Approval by the Regional War Labor Board of applications by two Winnipeg central heating plants for permission to increase wages was hailed as ending the possibility of a strike threatened by maintenance workers of both companies. The wages will be available immediately, company officials said.

Isley Arrives To Open 9th Loan

Hon. J. L. Isley, Minister of Finance, arrived in Victoria this afternoon on a whirlwind visit to officially open British Columbia's 9th Victory Loan campaign.

Addressing a meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island in the Empress Hotel, Mr. Isley urged support of the 9th Victory Loan campaign, the two-in-one loan. He stressed the need of investment in Victory Bonds and retention of wartime controls as means of keeping down inflation in Canada.

At 6:15 he attended a dinner in his honor tendered by J. W. Spencer, chairman of the National War Finance Committee for Vancouver Island.

Immediately following the dinner the Minister of Finance left for eastern Canada.

Heavy Firing In Venezuela As Army Rebels

WASHINGTON (AP)—A revolution has broken out in Venezuela, centred at the capital, Caracas, the United States State Department has been informed.

The word received here through diplomatic channels is that rebellious forces from San Carlos have taken possession of the residence of President Gen. Isiah Medina y Angarita at Miraflores, suburb of Caracas.

Heavy firing was reported this morning, shortly after midnight.

There also was an apparently reliable report that the rebel garrison at San Carlos barracks had been given an ultimatum.

Troops loyal to the government, according to information reaching the State Department, were reported ready to march against the barracks.

(From Bogota, Colombia, the radio at Caracas was reported to have announced that a rebellion had broken out and that "all armed forces remain loyal to the government except a very small minority" of officers.

(One broadcast said the rebels claimed to have the support of former President Gen. Eleazar Lopez Contreras, one of the candidates in Venezuela's current presidential campaign, but that this claim was not true.

An announcer who said he was a speaker for the "Communist Legion" urged the public to accept orders only from Rodolfo Quintero, Communist Party leader.)

R.A.F. Prisoners Tortured By Heat

HAMBURG (Reuter)—"Warning up" captured R.A.F. fliers was quite common with German intelligence officers during the war, an R.A.F. officer said today as preparations went ahead for trial in the Ruhr next week of five members of the German intelligence service on atrocity charges.

The five are accused of turning heat on R.A.F. prisoners as they lay on the floors of their cells. Pilots subjected to the torture will testify at the trial.

The R.A.F. officers said: "German intelligence officers used to masquerade as Red Cross men. They went into the cells and asked questions which, if answered, were of assistance to the enemy."

"When the pseudo Red Cross men left the cells after their failure they pressed a heat button which raised the temperature in the cell to an unbearable degree. The pilots were gradually compelled to strip themselves naked and lie on the floor."

British Food Supplies Ebb As Idle Dockers Parade In London

LONDON (CP)—Thousands of London dock strikers, angered over stalemated wage negotiations, marched through traffic-snarled streets to the Tower of London today in a mass demonstration as the country's food stocks ebbed.

Despite the strikers' cries of "Stick it out," the British Press Association's labor correspondent reported work might be resumed this week-end.

At Birkenhead, big shipping centre near Liverpool, dockers voted two to one to return to work tomorrow. However, the strike spread to Belfast, Northern Ireland, where 350 quit, and Greenock, Scotland, where 700 walked out.

Labor Minister Isaacs, criticizing the strikers "for repudiating their agreement," told the Commons 38,750 were idle.

Negotiations between employers and the Transport and General Workers' Union ended Thursday night, with both sides agreed no settlement could be reached while the unauthorized strike, now in its fourth week, remained in effect.

The strikers' principal demands are for a $5.50 daily wage, an increase of up to $2.20, and a 40-hour week.

Meanwhile some 4,000 troops struggled to do the work of the thousands of strikers in unloading critically needed food.

A group of British housewives has twice volunteered to help unload food ships in London's dock area, but spokesmen for the Ministry of War Transport said they would not be used under any circumstances. Striking dockers have voted "no confidence" in union officials who did not authorize the work-stoppage.

Attempts made Thursday were unsuccessful, but the weather is said to be abating today.

Vancouver May Get Bullet-Proof Taxis

VANCOUVER (CP)—"Built for the purpose" taxicabs, believed bullet proof, soon may be standard equipment of Vancouver taxicab companies.

Revision of the city taxicab law to incorporate use of the new cab was recommended at a meeting of the traffic commission.

According to C. A. Gower, secretary of the Vancouver Taxi Drivers' Union, adoption of the cab would add to the protection of both the drivers and the general public.

In the light of the recent killing of a Vancouver taxicabman because of the "high percentage" of deaths among drivers and passengers, accredited to cab accidents, Mr. Gower, on behalf of his union, suggested the commission give "proper consideration" to the use of the cab.

The matter was referred to a special committee for study.

Would Settle in B.C.

KELOWNA (CP)—Capt. C. C. Hughes-Hallett, who guides the Royal Navy's mighty aircraft carrier Implacable, wants to take up permanent residence in Kelowna when he retires from the navy.

The captain, who paid a surprise visit here last week-end, said he had never seen anything that could surpass the beauty of the Okanagan, and added that the "Old Country is getting a little tarnished now after six years of war."

Jailed for Riots

MONTREAL (CP)—Twelve longshoremen were sentenced to three weeks' imprisonment today for possessing bale hooks, considered by the court as offensive weapons, during the recent meat strike disturbances in front of the T. Eaton Company department store.

Soo Girl Victim Of Brutal Murder Near Her School

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—The body of Theresa Decourcy, 18, was found this morning near the Sault Ste. Marie technical school, at which she was a student. Police said she had been strangled.

Investigation revealed evidence of a scuffle along gravel bordering some side tracks of the Canadian Pacific Railway, near where the body was found, and police said there also was evidence the girl had been slain by a sex pervert.

The girl, a fourth-form student, was daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Decourcy of Sault Ste. Marie.

The railway tracks near where the body was found are used principally by shunting engines, and are not on the main line.

Further Attempts To Refloat Ship

Further attempts are being made today to refloat the grounded U.S. Navy refrigerator ship Athanasia which went ashore on the West Coast Sunday during a thick fog while bound to Seattle from Alaska, according to A. C. Burdick, head of the Pacific Salvage Company.

Attempts made Thursday were unsuccessful, but the weather is said to be abating today.

Feb. 10—Spikenard, corvette, torpedoed in North Atlantic.

Sept. 7—Raccoon, auxiliary service yacht, probably torpedoed in Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Sept. 11—Charlottetown, corvette, torpedoed in Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Sept. 13—Ottawa, destroyer, torpedoed in North Atlantic.

1943
Feb. 6—Louisburg, corvette, aerial torpedo in Mediterranean.

Feb. 22—Weyburn, corvette, presumably sunk by mine at entrance to Strait of Gibraltar, but aircraft sighted U-boat in close proximity at the time.

Sept. 20—St. Croix, destroyer, torpedoed in North Atlantic.

Sept. —Chedabucto, Bangor minesweeper, collided with cable ship Lord Kelvin in St. Lawrence River.

April 29—Ahabaskan, Tribal class destroyer, sunk by gunfire and torpedo in English Channel.

May 7—Valleyfield, frigate, torpedoed off Cape Race, Nfld.

Aug. 8—Regina, corvette, torpedoed or mined in South Bristol Channel.

Aug. 21—Albion, corvette, torpedoed or mined in English Channel.

Oct. 25—Skeena, destroyer, lost

after being driven ashore on Videy Island, off Reykjavik, Iceland, in strong gale.

Nov. 24 or 25—Shawinigan, corvette, lost, probably by enemy action, in Cabot Strait.

Dec. 24—Clayoquot, Bangor minesweeper, torpedoed off Halifax.

1945
Feb. 22—Trentonian, corvette, torpedoed near Falmouth, Eng.

March 17—Guysborough, Bangor minesweeper, torpedoed off Bay of Biscay.

April 16—Esquimaux, Bangor minesweeper, torpedoed in Halifax approaches.

Suggestion of Compulsory Army Training Heard In Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Possibility that Canada may have to adopt compulsory military training in peacetime and in wartime as a signatory of the United Nations charter, was advanced Thursday in the Commons by L. R. Beaudin, Liberal member for the Vaudreuil—Soulanges constituency of Quebec.

Mr. Beaudin, 33-year-old Montreal lawyer and former radio news commentator, said it appeared inevitable that Canada would have to adopt compulsory training if the United States, Britain, France and other countries adopted such systems to fulfill their commitments to the United Nations security organization.

U-Boat Crew Admits Murdering Survivors

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—A German submarine captain and four of his crew, on trial as war criminals, testified Thursday they killed the survivors of a freighter they had sunk in order to eliminate all traces of the sinking.

The five defendants said they did not kill out of cruelty, but that U-boat Capt. Heinz Ecks was forced by special circumstances to attempt to wipe out all evidence of the S. Peleus in the South Atlantic in March, 1944, at a time when German submarine losses were high.

2 Canadian Youths Of 17 Sentenced To Death For Murders

WINNIPEG (CP)—Joseph Henri Armand Proulx, 17, rested in nearby Headingley jail today awaiting possible reprieve from his death sentence for the jack-knife stabbing of pretty 15-year-old Barbara Smith in a darkened archery field in suburban St. Boniface last July 28 after she had refused to yield to his sexual desires.

An assize court jury deliberated for three hours after hearing three days of testimony and argument by counsel before it returned a verdict of guilty Thursday night with a recommendation for leniency in the case of the youth doctors had described as mentally deficient.

Mr. Justice Dwyer set Dec. 29 as the date of the hanging, but said he would communicate to the Department of Justice the jury's recommendation for leniency.

LIQUOR BLAMED
The jury also recommended that the liquor laws of Manitoba be enforced more strictly after evidence had revealed the youth had been drinking beer the afternoon and evening before Barbara was found stabbed above each breast.

Two doctors testified during the trial that Proulx had the mentality of a 10-year-old and although he might have known it was wrong to stab the girl, "at the time he wouldn't have cared."

Young Proulx was found in his bed asleep early July 19 after the murder. He still wore his trousers, which contained Barbara's pocketbook.

INDIAN MAY APPEAL
BARRIE, Ont. (CP)—Lloyd Wellington Simcoe, 17-year-old Indian, Thursday night was found guilty of murdering Freeman Walker, night watchman at the plant of Viles Enamel, Orillia, Ont., last March 17. He was sentenced to be hanged Dec. 20.

The jury deliberated one hour and twenty minutes.

At the conclusion of the trial, Wallace Card, defence counsel, said steps would be taken to appeal the sentence or stay the execution, but he added he was not prepared to say on what grounds the appeal would be made.

Rental Ordnance Upset By Court

QUEBEC (CP)—Mr. Justice Albert Sevigny of the Superior Court here cited an exception to a federal rental ordinance when he ordered a tenant out of the plaintiff's home within eight days. He ruled that statutory laws, like federal ordinances, "cannot abrogate a previous particular contract."

The federal ordinance referred to is No. 537, given effect last July to defer the carrying out of eviction notices given tenants six months before May, or to defer any court proceeding respecting the eviction of tenants.

In the present case, a special contract was signed by both parties whereby the defendant agreed to inhabit plaintiff's home until last August. In October the tenant was notified he would have to leave the house, but he refused to do so, saying he was protected by Ordinance 537.

Returning judgment this week, Mr. Justice Sevigny ruled that a statutory law such as Ordinance 537 cannot abrogate special contracts already signed.

Fruit Growers' Parley

Dates for the 57th annual convention of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association have been advanced a week and will now be Jan. 15, 16 and 17, 1946. The sessions will be held in Penetion Jan. 15 and 17, and in Oliver Jan. 16.

The dates were advanced by the executive because of the national Fruit Wholesalers' Convention in Toronto, Jan. 28, 29 and 30, followed by the Canadian Horticultural Council's annual meeting in Ottawa.

In between, the Canadian Federation of Agriculture's annual meeting will be held in Ottawa, Jan. 21 to 23.

JAMES LORIMER ISLEY

WHEN HE FIRST ENTERED THE House of Commons after the general election of 1926, at the age of 32, James Lorimer Isley discovered that many seasoned observers of the Canadian scene were alluding to him as a bright star in the Dominion's political firmament. They were impressed not only by his scholastic attainments but more especially by his broad concept of the potentialities of his native land; he subscribed to the basic principles of freedom of trade because Nature's bounty had carved an important niche for Canada among the great exporting nations of the world. In his succeeding 19 years of public life the man who has proved himself one of the ablest guardians of the national treasury this country has ever had has witnessed the realization of many of his fondest hopes.

Four times since 1926 his constituents have endorsed Mr. Isley. Ten years ago he entered the King government as Minister of National Revenue; five years later he became Minister of Finance; and it is in that important role that he is in Victoria today to fill engagements in connection with the Ninth Victory Loan whose books he will open for business next Monday morning. He is warmly welcomed particularly by reason of the manner in which he has controlled and managed the nation's huge financial business since he took over the portfolio of finance in the summer of 1940—a stage in world affairs which demanded the utmost in courage and vision.

It is superfluous to say that the duties of a Minister of Finance at any time are onerous and thankless; but to discharge them through five years of the bloodiest and costliest war in history with not much grumbling from a heavily-taxed people is little short of miraculous. Yet Mr. Isley's record as the guiding genius of the Department of Finance entitles him to read into this comparative absence of serious criticism an appropriate commentary on his fine service to his country. Of course he has had to say No when it would have been much more pleasant for him to say Yes. Fortunately for Canada and Canada's financial structure, however, he has had the courage of his convictions. And one day our people will assess at their full value those policies he has pursued through the testing years of war in the interests of economic stability.

SHARING

THERE IS AN OBJECT LESSON FOR the better-fed countries in the resolution passed today by the National Council of Women at their Golden Jubilee Conference in London. At this meeting, delegates endorsed a decision expressing willingness to accept any necessary cuts in already thin rations in order to feed the hungry millions of Europe. Approval was given the resolution in face of the statement by one representative that "if we are going to say we are willing to have less rations, it will mean that a good many people in Britain will have nothing at all." A list of meagre British food quotas published with the story underscores the delegate's point. But it did not swing the women from their decision to share what they had with those with less or nothing. The significance of the action cannot be lost on Canada and the United States.

AFTERMATH OF THE STALEMATE

BEFORE THE GATHERING OF THE United Nations in San Francisco last April, and frequently during their nine weeks of deliberations, it became a commonplace to say that so long as the "Big Three" remained in agreement on fundamental principles the future peace of the world would be in no danger. Nothing has transpired in the meantime to suggest that any serious cleavage in basic intent has occurred. The first meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers in London could not be regarded as a triumph of Inter-Allied accord. Instructions from Moscow obliged Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov to reverse his agreement to admit China and France to all treaty discussions—a development as unexpected as it was unfortunate. But the individual reports which Mr. Bevin and Mr. Byrnes submitted to their respective peoples were more striking for their candid admissions of disappointment than they were marked by gloomy apprehension for subsequent deliberations of this important body.

It is to be noted, moreover, that Britain's Foreign Secretary reported that up to the time of the receipt of Mr. Molotov's "instructions from Moscow" on Sept. 22, the Council had "made much progress, not only on general questions but on treaty questions as well." With that feeling, therefore, he struck a final note of confidence on the basis of partial achievement rather than of partial disagreement, and this sentence from his statement supplies a potent footnote:

"I can say with confidence that, given the time, and if we all continue to apply patience and understanding of each other's difficulties we shall overcome the present divergencies and any others which may reveal themselves. For our part, we shall certainly work in the same spirit of co-operation with which the countries united to pursue war against our enemies."

In line with the foregoing, and by virtue of the fact that Mr. Molotov himself took the initiative in the exchange of cordial messages before he left for Moscow, Mr. Truman announced at his press conference yesterday that the United States government is in correspondence with all interested governments in an effort to break the stalemate resulting from the London meeting. But the President was equally emphatic in his disclosure that no additional conference of the "Big Three" is contemplated. This statement indicates no serious "strain."

The presence in London of Mr. Mackenzie King, incidentally, would seem to lend significance and importance to that part of Mr. Bevin's account of the meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers in which he said that throughout its discussions he was "concerned to urge the wider interpretation, which would have given opportunity to the Dominions and other governments who had made material contributions to the defeat of the Axis to express their views in the peace settlement." As the Prime Minister of the senior overseas Dominion of the British Commonwealth—whose magnificent war record in all its manifold aspects is recognized fully by the "Big Three"—Mr. King's long experience as an internationalist may be useful to Mr. Bevin and Mr. Byrnes in anticipation of further meetings of the Council. In any case, in the interval, the English-speaking representatives on that body may find it desirable to canvass their arguments and proposals on more realistic lines than they seem to have done for their first effort.

NOT COMPLETE IN ITSELF

MORE THAN TWO DOZEN HIGH-ranking German war criminals and a half dozen Nazi Party and military groups will go on trial when those indicted yesterday face the bar of justice in Nuernberg next month. In addition to the individuals and specific associations, the whole ideology of fascism will be judged. The actual hearings will doubtless focus public attention on particular men and particular associations; but the trials cannot achieve their broader purpose if the results are restricted to punishment of those proved guilty.

It must be made abundantly clear, through the orderly legal proceedings, that justice will be exacted not only against those who have executed the hideous misdeeds of war, but against those whose active though hidden help conceived war as a national policy. And it must be made apparent to the latter that action will not await the ghastly harvest of their sowing in the future.

The trials should not be the occasion of a witch hunt in which vindictiveness will be the main impetus. They should be the beginning of an orderly, progressive elimination of those elements which now vow their disaffection for the followers of Hitler in Germany and Mussolini in Italy but which, hiding behind all manner of screens, await their time to foster again their sinister schemes against freedom and decency.

The dispensation of justice at Nuernberg cannot be the end of that task. In itself, it will provide an object lesson to those inclined to take the paths of darkness and deceit, but the opportunity to follow the course of Hitler and Mussolini must not be left to their questionable consciences and possible fear of reprisal. The opportunity for such a choice must be destroyed. It is a colossal task, but it can be accomplished by an enlightened world public exposing on every possible occasion those interests which seek to pursue the road of sadistic self-aggrandisement.

CLEARING THE AIR

THE PUBLIC NO DOUBT HAS WELcomed the report that Mr. Paul A. Porter, chairman of the United States Federal Communications Commission, has informed radio broadcasting executives that they need to co-operate in the self-regulation of practices annoying to many listeners and in narrowing the "gap between promise and performance . . . to avoid legislative intervention."

Mr. Porter, in his explanation of the situation, notes that the listener, although he may switch off a program when the commercial begins, is more or less at its mercy. In other words, Mr. Porter is pointing to the objectionable blurbs by which some radio advertisers seek to popularize their products. It does seem justifiable to expect protest over the hyperbole used to indicate that universal use of a certain liver pill could achieve the idealized brotherhood of man for which humanity has aspired for hundreds of years. And it would be much more honest if a certain tobacco company explained by what thousandth of a degree its cigarette was less injurious than that of its competitors.

AND STILL NO HELP

DURING THE 32 YEARS MR. GEORGE Pullen has served as municipal clerk of Esquimalt he has grown proficient in the preparation of that municipality's continuous appeals to Ottawa for a grant in lieu of taxes on property within the district used for naval and military purposes. So often has he prepared the argument that, as he nears retirement at the end of this year, he may find it a habit intruding into the leisure he so rightfully deserves.

To Esquimalt's neighbors, it seems unreasonable that so logical a claim should be ignored by federal authorities. This cannot be a case of fearing the establishment of a dangerous precedent on the part of Ottawa. Surely Esquimalt, traditionally navy and essentially proud of it, is in a position different from any other municipality save the Atlantic seaboard bases,

ELEGY TO WINNIPEG CLIMATE

THE RECENT printed insults hurled at me by my colleague, Mr. Gray, would be of no public interest if they did not involve a great public issue. That issue, of course, is the climate of Winnipeg, and I can think of nothing more public or alarming.

Mr. Gray has succeeded, he writes, in raising a few undersized plums and crab-apples in Manitoba and on the strength of these wizened exhibits he announces that the whole agricultural economy of Canada is about to change, that British Columbia fruit is now worthless, that the climate of the Pacific coast is no good, and that I, in particular, had better cut down my trees and vines; and this at the very moment (only a sense of accuracy and public responsibility forces this final revelation) when Mr. Gray is imploring me by long distance telephone to send him some of my British Columbia raspberry canes. Indeed, they were in the mail when his frantic attack on me was printed. They will freeze in Winnipeg in due course.

BUT THE GRAYS were always people to take a dismal view of things. The Elder Gray, Jimmy's ancestor, sat in an English country churchyard for 30 years or so writing his famous Elegy. The younger—taking up the task of abuse and distortion where Mr. Ferguson left it some time ago in frustration and failure—required only 30 minutes to write his elegy on plums, hard apples and sour grapes.

However, in melancholy, in envy and in ill-disguised despair, the elegy of the Younger closely resembles the work of the Elder. (No other resemblance is to be noted.) But the Younger has deliberately left out many verses in the Elegy of a Winnipeg Backyard and I append them herewith just to set the record straight:

THE curfew tolls the knell of parting day,
And Winnipeg stamps blindly through the snow.

The hoar frost glitters on the beard of Gray
And he in print doth utter up his woe.

A verdant churchyard warmed the Elder Gray,
The Younger's Igloo stands on Main at Portage.

The spring and sunshine filled the Elder's lay,
But the Younger's thoughts are on the coal shortage.

He writes in riddles, mind all topsy-turvy,
Sees life distorted in his deep snow-blindness.

He reels in print of frostbit and of scurvy
And rails at us who meant him no unkindness.

Not for the Younger springtime's blossom froth,
He never saw beauty, only prairie drab.

His only vintage was the grapes of wrath,
His only apple a poor withered crab.

DEEP in the madding crowds' ignoble strife
He gardened all the day—alas, to think
Mere words and phrases were his only soil
And fertilized with cold, black printer's ink.

His earth would yield but barren rocks to throw
At us, his betters. When he needed more
He stole from Ferguson's quarry in the snow
And always found therein an ample store.

Long hours he labored in the icy blast
To raise an apple with a pallid peel.
At golf we used it for a ball and 'twould last
Eighteen full holes, for it was hard as steel.

With frantic toll of typewriter and pen
Against the climate's odds this unknown hero
Germinated his little heat but then
He never rose a moment over zero.

LET not the West Coast mock his gruesome fate
His sour plums, soaked by sub-zero rains,
Nor B.C. hear with a disdainful hate
The short and chilly annals of the plains.

Scorn not his envy and his covetous mind,
But rather pause and shed a kindly tear.
To British Columbia he was always kind
And gave us his most precious gift—a sneer.

The boast of husbandry, the pome of prunes
And all the verdure of the springtime nice
Await alike the cold December moons,
Where path of summer lead through fields of ice.

Full many a plum of purest hue serene (Dreamed up by Gray because his fancy wills it),
Is born to die and wither all unseen
Because the climate of the prairies kills it.

CAN written essay on a printed page
Back to its mansion call the frozen breath?
Can editorial or the word of sage
Sooth the sharp blizzard pain of death?

Here rests his head, by 'Stribolne's flood,
'A youth to sunshine and to bloom unknown,
Grasped in his hand a frozen apple bud,
The Eskimos there found him all alone.

Deep in this whirling snowdrift now is laid
A writer pregnant with celestial fire,
Whose witty quips the nation often awayed,
But now, alas, he's but a frozen liar.

GENERAL MARSHALL'S TRIBUTE
From The Ottawa Journal

That was a fine tribute United States Army Chief of Staff Marshall paid to Great Britain, and also to Russia, in his recent statement. Said he:

"In good conscience, this nation can take little credit for its part in staying off disaster in those critical days—the black days of 1942.

"It is certain that the refusal of the British and Russian peoples to accept what appeared to be inevitable defeat was the greatest factor in the salvage of our civilization."

It is good to hear this. It is especially good to hear it from the man who was the principal organizer of the magnificent war effort of the United States.

Letters To The Editor

STATE OWNERSHIP

On several occasions I have criticized the C.C.F. for advocating state ownership, claiming it would take away from the workers the right to strike, etc.

The Dominion government, in order to take over the packing plants, of Burns Company, published an order in the papers on Oct. 13, and which I recommend all those in favor of state ownership to read especially clauses 9, 10 and 11.

DOMINION-PROVINCIAL RELATIONS

The people of Canada, and the provincial governments, have now had time to weigh the proposals of the Dominion government to set up a nation-wide economic and financial control. The proposals boil down to two essentials, neither one nor both of which justify the suspension of our present federal system. The first is social security and the second is planned economy.

Social security, as exemplified in New Zealand and some other countries, is a system for redistribution, on the basis of need rather than of service rendered, of less than 10 per cent of the national income. It is therefore a paltry affair. Any attempt to acquire a larger proportion causes a loss in national income and therefore defeats the purpose. Even as far as it does go, social security implements the theory of communism, rather than that of socialism or that of private enterprise, because these two latter recognize the principle of reward for production rather than for need.

Planned economy means that government men do the thinking and citizens do the work. In democratic life, the millions of people produce the ideas, and the government provides the co-operation wherever there is occasion for the government to act and it is deemed in the public interest to do so. Between these two basic philosophies there is no reconciliation. The idea that the government might do the broad planning while the citizens fill in the details is not tenable, because it means the principle of bureaucratic dictatorship applied in major degree.

We can have all the simplification and modification of taxation that we want, through a unified system of tax collection administered by a nation-wide body jointly controlled by the Dominion and the provinces, leaving the Dominion and each province free to set its own rates on incomes and on estates. In this way our provinces as well as our Dominion can remain autonomous and retain flexibility in finance. In this way we can have room for variation arising from relative efficiency, and for different rates of growth in the population and

Do You Feel Nervous And All on Edge?

People suffering from loss of appetite and run-down condition with symptoms of nerve strain often need a nerve and general tonic. Glycero Lecithin with Vitamin B (1) supplies tonic ingredients. It is especially beneficial for convalescents. By increasing the supply of Vitamin B (1)

Couple From Sooke Wed in Vancouver

The marriage was solemnized
Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Logan, North
Vancouver, of Miss Gladys
Sember, R.N., youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Sember of Sooke, and Arthur Douglas Brownsey, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Brownsey, also of Sooke. Rev. W. Stott of Vancouver officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore an afternoon frock of Queen's blue with headdress of blue flowers and shoulder-length veil. Her corsage bouquet was composed of pink roses and heather. Miss Sally Logan was maid of honor, wearing a rose ensemble with a corsage bouquet of gardenias. J.
Christason was best man.

A small reception followed the ceremony and later the bride and groom left for a short honeymoon. They will make their home at Sooke, where the groom will go into business, having received his discharge last week from the R.C.N.V.R., after three and a half years' service.

Mary's Church, Oak Bay, met at the rectory to pay tribute to Mr. Francis T. C. Wickett following his recent retirement after 23 years as organist and choirmaster of St. Mary's Church.

The rector, Ven. Archdeacon A.
E. de la Nunn, spoke in glowing terms of the choir under Mr.
Wickett's leadership, praising particularly his training of the boys of the choir, and special mention was also made of the constant help of Mrs. Wickett as a member of the choir, and of their three sons, all of whom had been choir members. A cheque from the congregation and church committee was presented to Mr. Wickett, with a letter of appreciation from the rector and churchwardens. An upholstered easy chair and a corsage were presented to Mrs.
Wickett. Both recipients spoke feelingly in response.

Mrs. Nunn, assisted by the ladies, served refreshments, and musical numbers were rendered by several members of the gathering.

Teen canteen activities are convened by the Council of Social Agencies. On the committee with Mr. Gordon are Mayor
Percy George, honorary chairman; Jim Forsyth, secretary;
Miss Marion Foster, treasurer;
Mrs. G. W. Pottinger, Mrs. William Blair, Mrs. K. Barr, Miss
Isla Tuck, Miss M. McKillop,
Miss Margaret Wightman, Mrs.
Clayton Peters, W. H. Warren and Cleve Stenmark. Mrs. Kay Jeune has been appointed supervisor of activities.

Bolivia Missionary Tells of Work

Progress made by various missions in Bolivia was described by Miss Dorothy Franklin of the Canadian Baptist Foreign Mission Board, at an interdenominational meeting of women's missionary societies, Thursday, afternoon at Metropolitan United Church.

Miss Franklin, who is on her second furlough home during 10 years' missionary work in Bolivia, is one of a team of six visiting leaders observing the Missionary Centenary of Canadian Churches through four days of meetings in this city.

Describing the city of La Paz in Bolivia, where most of her work has been done, Miss Franklin, who is a graduate nurse, said through visitation with people of the middle class, the church is slowly but surely winning the people of La Paz.

The greater majority of homes in the city are just one room with sanitation not well developed and extreme poverty in evidence.

Many families have improved financially since joining the church and the contrast between Christian and non-Christian homes is great, Miss Franklin said. The quarrelling, filth and disease of the non-Christian home as the result of liquor, was compared with the peace and harmony which reigns in the Christian home, where there is interest in the happiness and health of the children. The missionary told many true stories of links
she had had in taking the gospel message to the people of Bolivia.

Dr. Marion Sherman, president of the Diocesan Board of the Anglican W.A., was chairman, and Mrs. W. H. Muncey, president of the United Church Presby-terial, introduced Miss Franklin, also Rev. Edward Bragg of the Presbyterian Church. Rev.
Bragg, also a member of the team of six visiting leaders, spoke on his experiences in British Guiana, where he has been a field missionary since 1941.

The Robert's Coming Home!

The coffee urns at Prince Robert House are being given an extra polish today and the smiles of the young volunteers like Doreen Rust, left, and Gene McMinn, have a special sparkle in anticipation of the return Saturday of Victoria's anti-aircraft cruiser, H.M.C.S. Prince Robert. Many old friends at Prince Robert House await visits from the crew of the Robert, known as a friendly ship from the Mediterranean to Pacific.

Hostess Club Closes Saturday Evening

The Victoria Hostess Club on Fort Street, which has done such splendid work during the war years providing entertainment and refreshment for servicemen, will hold its closing dance Saturday evening.

A large orchestra will be in attendance and it is hoped that servicemen and the hostesses will attend on the closing night.

Dorothy Dix

DAD—THE UNSUNG HERO

We have had Mother's Day again, which we celebrated with telegrams and letters and cards and flowers and presents and the beating of drums and general ballyhoo. That was fine, for no honor can be too great, no appreciation too fervently expressed to the women who bore us in agony, who slaved for us in our helpless infancy, and who endured us through our nerve-racking adolescence. So three cheers for Mother! Long may she wave and get every tribute she deserves.

There is a Father's Day also. In case you haven't heard of it and need to be reminded, but it is a lukewarm affair, compared to Mother's Day. In the popular opinion it doesn't call for much shouting, and Father is lucky if his children even remember to telephone him, and if he gets a few neckties that he is ashamed to wear in public, and a box of cigars that are best smoked in the open air.

Somehow, Mother has stolen the show from Father. There are a million Mammy songs, but the only poppy song that I can recall at the moment is: "Everybody Works At Our House But My Old Man." It is the poor old mother, or the self-sacrificing mother, or the devoted mother who fills the pages of best sellers and brings down the house at three-handkerchief plays.

FATHER'S GRIEF IGNORED

And even during this war it has been a curious and a terrible thing that the grief of the fathers of the boys at the front has been practically ignored. It has been the mothers whom we deluged with our tears; the mothers whose anxieties we have pried; the mothers whose broken hearts tore our own hearts to tatters with sympathy when they lost their sons. Nobody says a word about what the fathers are feeling. The public doesn't weep over them. Yet I have looked upon the face of a man who had lost his only son in battle and it was the face of the crucified.

The very fact that a man may not wall and beat upon his breast, as women do in their hours of travail, does not make his sufferings less. It makes them greater, because he has a family to support and because he has to be the stay and prop of a mother who is giving away to her despair. There are as many hero fathers as there are hero sons. Only, the fathers get no medals.

FALSE BELIEF

There is no belief more commonly held, and none that is false, than that mothers love their children better than their fathers do, and that mothers sacrifice more for their children than their fathers do. The mother may pet and coddle and spoil the little darlings more than their father does, but he has the love for them that expresses itself in deeds.

His is the love that lays the toll and sweat of a whole lifetime as a sacrifice on the altar of fatherhood. It is the love that makes him go shabby that his children may have fine clothes; that they may have an education that will forever lift them above him, and even make them ashamed of him. And greater love hath no man than this.

So let's give a cheer for good old Dad. Mom is all right, but he is there pitching, too.

Governments Seek To Reduce Wages Tim Buck Charges

"It is a lie to suggest that Canadian industries able to compete in export trade before the war cannot compete now without wage cuts," Tim Buck, national leader of the Labor Progressive Party, told a meeting Thursday night in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium.

Mr. Buck, addressing an audience of about 200 in support of Robert Kerr, Victoria candidate of the L.P.P., charged that the governments of Canada were co-operating with big business in trying to reduce the wages, and thereby the purchasing power of workers.

He said Canada was in a more favorable position for exporting now than in 1939, because competition from Japan and the continent had been knocked out, production costs had increased in Britain, and costs of materials and wages had increased 50 per cent more in the United States than in Canada.

The provincial election campaign, Mr. Buck declared, was an integral part of a struggle to decide whether Canada should go back to the prewar standard of living.

OBSERVED PLEDGE

"During the war," he said, "labor could have demanded union security and higher wages, but was more responsible than some capitalists. Labor accepted wage-freezing and enforced on itself a no-strike pledge, which it observed throughout the war. Having played the role it did, labor has the chance to fight for those things we were told the war was fought to bring about."

Mr. Buck quoted Reconstruction Minister C. D. Howe as saying repeatedly that there were two jobs for every man willing to work in Canada.

"That's not true," Mr. Buck claimed. "If there are jobs in the bush, that doesn't mean that there are two jobs for every unemployed bootmaker."

"At no time since August have there been as many jobs available as there are people looking for jobs."

SURPLUS OF MATERIAL

In connection with the housing problem, Mr. Buck said that if the government was serious about wanting to see to the welfare of the people during the reconversion period, it had a perfect opportunity to do so in the building of new homes alone. He said there was a surplus of house-building materials 25 per cent greater now than in mid-September and increasing daily. Authority over collective bargaining and wages was going to revert back to the provinces from the federal government, he predicted.

"There will be no Dominion control of social security legislation in general," he said.

On the average during the war, the Canadian government gave Britain $800,000,000 a year in credits, with which Britain bought Canadian foodstuffs and manufactured goods, Mr. Buck stated, and Canadian workers benefited because they received wages in part because Britain was able to buy the goods.

"If it is worth while to provide markets for Canadian farmers and workers by helping the British people win the war, why couldn't it be done to help the old people of Canada?" he asked. He suggested that every person over 60 in Canada could be given $50 a month and that of $800,000,000 a year, $38,000,000 still would be left over.

Mr. Buck said he found a general opinion here that the Coalition was going to capture an overwhelming majority of seats.

"But the question is not whether you are going to elect a government, but whether you are going to elect a candidate who will fight for what he says he will, in the Opposition," he declared.

Robert Mezger, secretary of the Victoria Labor Council, was chairman. Robert Kerr stated in a brief address that the rank and file of the C.C.F. were in favor of electoral unity but that the C.C.F. leaders had turned it down.

SUPPORT THE VICTORIA GIRLS' PIPE BAND TAG DAY... SATURDAY

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

IN ALL the excitement over securing a franchise, making arrangements for the annual meeting of the Western International League here next month, ordering uniforms and making contacts that may lead to securing ball players, backers of Victoria's new professional baseball team clearly forgot one important item and that is what to call the team. Laurel Harney was pulled up with a jolt this week when he came to place an order for two sets of uniforms, home and traveling, as he was at a complete loss to tell the sporting goods manufacturers what lettering to put on the shirts. Only then did he realize the Victoria entry had not been formally named.

ON HEARING of Harney's problem it struck the writer that the many Victoria ball fans would appreciate an opportunity to participate in a poll to determine the name of the team. Let the ball club sponsor a competition with a suitable prize to be given the fan coming up with the winning name. Should one or more hit on the name chosen a drawing could be held to determine the ultimate winner. This would be a grand way to stimulate interest in Victoria's new baseball venture.

VICTORIA'S last professional club in the northwest league was known as the Capitals. However, it would be impossible to use that name again as Bob Brown's Vancouver entry is known as the Caplanos with Caps as an abbreviation. Of course, the field is wide open with a possibility one of the names used by the major league outfits would prove a suitable handle for the local club. Victoria Giants, Cardinals, White Sox et al might prove the name most popular with the committee selected to pick the winner.

ANY OF you fans who think you might have a name that would meet with the approval of the Victoria club officials just send it along to the writer and I will see it is turned over to the right party. Mail in as many as you like, the more the merrier. The larger selection received will make it that much more interesting. Let's give the committee a real tough job to decide the winner. Just as a tip-off, don't use the names of animals such as Tigers et al as I have been tipped off such names will not receive any consideration at all.

TELEPHONE call today from Ray Castle tells of a big new run of coho salmon at Cowichan Bay. One day this week 171 were reported in with the largest tipping the scales at 19 pounds two ounces. The silvers are reported in beautiful condition and it is thought this is the big run the sportsmen have been waiting for the last couple of weeks. The fish are being taken on fly and plugs with the former lure the more popular.

Rugby Opening Tomorrow

College Clubs Clash

Royal Canadian Navy Band will be on hand at Macdonald Park tomorrow to color the opening of the 1945-46 senior circuit of the Victoria Rugby Union with Victoria College battling Naval College, starting at 2.30.

Capt. C. D. Donald, N.O.I.C., H.M.C.S. Dockyard, will kick-off to start the new season. All senior battles will be played at Macdonald Park and keen competition is forecast by members of the veteran rugby board.

Campbell Forbes, coach of the Victoria College fifteen, says his rugby machine will be "young and fast." Turning out for the club will be four members who wore the college's colors last season. Boys back from overseas and lads who last year were in high schools will form the remainder of the line-up.

The Naval College will field a team they are sure "will make a good show of it." The line-up is composed of a number of players who were in the senior and intermediate leagues last season and newcomers in navy blue.

B. Lott has been named captain of the Victoria College team.

Conn Signs For Title Bout With Louis Next June

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Conn Thursday took his first decision since leaving the army—a rich win over promoter Mike Jacobs. Then he put his name on contracts calling for his return match with Joe Louis next June.

The Pittsburgh Irishman scratched his "William David Conn" across the bottom of half a dozen agreements for the fight after a two-hour session, during which he and his manager, Johnny Ray, won virtually every point they had argued about for two days.

These were some of the spoils they took back to Pittsburgh: 1. Permission for Billy to appear in as many prefight exhibition bouts as he wants, although all time-out tussles are barred.

2. A 20 per cent cut of the gate—just what Conn received for his first fust with the Bomber in 1941, when he was flattened in 13 rounds, but 2½ per cent more than a challenger's usual end.

3. A 20 per cent slice of the television and motion picture pie Mike is planning to pipe the television into movie houses.

4. Agreement by Jacobs to sell the expected fancy-priced television rights for this fight separately, instead of including it in the "package" Mike peddles for the year for all his promotions. Thus Billy and Louis are insured a cut of the actual return from televising this one big shot.

Otherwise they would have had to take a piece of what would be allotted to their bout, on a pro rata basis, from the television receipts Mike receives for his entire year's promotions.

Although the champagne-and-turkey breakfasts of the Dempsey-Kearns heyday were missing, this was an old-fashioned signing, complete with photographer's bulbs, a couple of dozen sports writers, lawyers, managers and a gold-headed pen. The only guy missing, of course, was Louis, who signed last Monday—without no more argument than if he were writing a postcard.

Navy Will Strip Strong Rugby Squad

With over 20 experienced players turning out for practice, the Royal Canadian Navy is busy these days getting an English rugby squad in condition for play in the senior division of the Victoria Union.

Bluejackets will field an experienced club, with many of the players having engaged in rugby at Vancouver, Naval College, Dartmouth, Eng.; Halifax Navy, Sussex, Eng.; H.M.C.S. Cornwallis, Nova Scotia; Welsh University, Eng.; Royal Roads and Nelson.

Players' turning out include: R. Gaudick, D. Tyre, A. Cupples, Oliver, Rutherford, Moncton, Slater, A. Evans, R. Dickinson, P. Read, R. Beattie, Hall, Forbes, Bennett, McKinnon, Blades, J. Curry, R. Carle, J. Zimmerman, A. Chartren and Travis.

Chicago Hawks Whip Rangers In Exhibition Game

WINNIPEG (CP)—Chicago Black Hawks outskated New York Rangers in the final two periods here Thursday night to gain a 4 to 2 victory in the first of a two-game exhibition series before a capacity crowd of 4,500 fans.

Penalties played an important part in the game with Chicago scoring two goals, while Rangers were a man short. Sparked by the fast stepping line of Bill Mosienko, Doug and Max Bentley, Chicago moved into a lead in the second period when Doug Bentley sank a pass from Pete Horek.

A solo effort by Doug Bentley early in the third stanza gave the Black Hawks a 2 to 0 lead before Rangers scored their first goal, when Hank Gildup scored on a pass from Al Demarco, while Doug Bentley was off for tripping.

Red Hamill, who played a hard-checking game for the Hawks, took a pass from Don Grosso and drove the puck past Jim Henry, but New York came back a minute later when Alex Shibicky sank the rubber from 10 feet out on a pass from Edgar Laprade.

Rangers turned on the power during the last five minutes of the game in an effort to tie the score, but with just five seconds to go Wingy Johnson broke away to score Hawks' final tally.

Rate Johnny Rigney Second Mr. Marion

NEW YORK (AP)—Unlike most major league club owners who would like to have the services of Marty Marion, termed the "Mr. Shortstop" of baseball, president Horace Stoneham of New York Giants is not interested in the St. Louis Cardinals' star.

"I believe we are going to come up with a shortstop who in a few years will be every bit as good as Marion," Stoneham said. "His name is John Rigney, and we obtained him from Oakland of the Coast League in the deal that sent Dolf Camilli to manage the Oaks in 1944.

"Reports from Hawaii and the Pacific Isles where Rigney has participated in the army-navy exhibitions, all agree that Rigney can step into the line-up of almost any big league team right now."

Rigney, 22 years old, and bespectacled, spent the last two of his four years in organized baseball, with Oakland. Although not rated an exceptionally strong hitter, he amassed a .288 batting percentage via 184 base hits in his last year before enlisting, and got rave notices for his fielding.

Eastern College Grid Clubs Open Play Saturday

Revival of intercollegiate football after a five-year wartime hiatus lends a welcome "Joe College" touch to the eastern Canadian gridiron scene this week, as nine other senior teams swing into the decisive second half of their first peacetime schedule since 1939.

Off to a tardy start because college officials didn't know until August whether permission to operate in 1945 could be obtained, four familiar rah-rah teams—University of Western Ontario Mustangs, Queen's University, University of Toronto and McGill—open an abbreviated schedule Saturday with Mustangs in Montreal and Toronto Varsity at Kingston, Ont., to meet Queen's.

The anticipated intercollegiate opening even overshadowed such vital football gossip as the news that Joe Kroll, member of Western College champs of '39, will sign a contract with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four after obtaining his release from Detroit Lions of the National Professional League.

Ironically, Kroll originally was slated this season for Hamilton Tigers, who meet Argos at Varsity Stadium Saturday in a game Tigers must win to remain eligible for a playoff berth. Ottawa Rough Riders, tied with Argos for the Big Four lead four points ahead of Tigers, entertain Montreal Hornets in the other I.R.F.U. contest.

Victories for Argos and Riders would leave them the only clubs in the play-off running. In the Ontario Union, Toronto Indians play at Windsor Rockets and Toronto Beavers at Hamilton Wildcats, with Ottawa Trojans idle.

Under new rules being drawn, wrestlers mustn't swear in the ring, mustn't use "caveman" tactics, must be "clean-shaven and tidy."

Apparently the referees are going to find himself in for a tough ride when he attempts to rule on these new regulations: Wrestlers must be disqualified for "grasping or kicking the body; strangling, biting, gouging or pushing fingers in the opponent's mouth, nostrils or ears; grasping one finger or toe."

Outlawed are the "pile-driver, the back-breaker, the rabbit punch, butting, the mule kick and hitting with closed fist... disobeying or attacking the referee."

On the third line Irvin can take his choice among Kenny Mosdell, Dutch Hiller, Fernand Gauthier, Bobby Fillion and Murphy Chamberlain, all regulars of last year, but he will probably keep them all, alternating them on the line.

Goal will again go to Bill Duran, twice winner of the Vezina trophy in his two years in the N.H.L. with Bill (Legs) Fraser as substitute.

Mustangs Play Blue Bombers Here Tomorrow

Tomorrow afternoon's American football game will see Victoria Mustangs battle Vancouver Blue Bombers, and not Blaine Borderites, as previously scheduled. Teams will battle at Athletic Park, starting at 2.30.

Officials of the local club found it necessary to cancel out the scheduled engagement with Blaine when the latter made certain demands regarding player eligibility rules, and the Mustangs were unable to field a team under such conditions.

The balance of the Mustangs' schedule will be completed with teams from Vancouver, and the prize at stake will be the World Trophy, emblematic of the junior football championship of B.C. By virtue of their win over Blue Bombers here Thanksgiving Day, Mustangs have a two-point lead.

MAKES STATEMENT
Dave Kenny, president of the Mustangs, issued the following statement today regarding the cancellation of games with the American teams:

"The reason for this move is that a misunderstanding has arisen with teams from the state of Washington regarding eligibility rules. At the start of the season the Mustangs' executive was advised by members of the opposing American teams that as these games were purely of an exhibition nature, it would not be necessary to meet the requirements of the Washington State Athletic Association. At that time the American teams were of the opinion that Victoria, at best, would offer poor competition to any club from below the border, and these games would be considered more in the nature of a 'breather' than as a hard-fought contest.

Since then, the close nature of the games played by the Mustangs, who are engaged in their first full season under the American code, seems to have thrown a scare into the Washington teams, with the result that they are endeavoring to dictate just what players Victoria can use from week to week. In view of this, it was decided to cancel the game with Blaine and play Vancouver on Saturday."

Wests Battle Navy In Soccer Feature

Mustangs Play Blue Bombers Here Tomorrow

Leadership of the Victoria and District Football League will be at stake in three matches scheduled over the week-end. At the present time Victoria West, last year's champions, and Nanaimo are deadlocked at the top of the heap, each with a pair of victories in as many starts.

Week-end schedule follows:

THURSDAY
2.30—V.M.D. vs. Canadian Legion, at Heywood Avenue.

SUNDAY
2.30—Victoria West vs. Navy, at Athletic Park.
2.30—Toppers vs. Nanaimo, at Nanaimo.

From the standpoint of the local fans Sunday's game between the Wests and Navy will be the feature. Last Saturday the Navy, fielding a lineup composed mostly of players from the Old Country, walloped the V.M.D. 6 to 2. Fans who saw the game likened the Navy eleven to the great R.A.F. club that played in the local league for several seasons. The bluejackets will strip the same players for the match with the Wests. Last week-end the green-shirts came from behind to whip the Toppers, and will field the same lineup against the tars.

V.M.D. BOLSTERED
Badly beaten in their two appearances to date, the V.M.D. hope to strengthened their back division tomorrow with Norm Baker and Doug Peden scheduled to start out. Baker will be in goal and Peden in one of the fullback berths. The remainder of the club will be the same.

With a win and loss in two starts the Toppers face their toughest assignment when they travel up-island to engage Nanaimo.

Teams follow:
V.M.D.—Baker, Peden, Burt, Youlden, McCormick, J. Robbins, Gancy, Wiseman, Parks, Payne, Dallimore and Holness.
Canadian Legion—Evans, McConnell, Wyatt, Tregalis, G. Sage, Watson, Duncan, Newman, Costain, Felton, Walters, McHaffie, Barnes, Cridge and McDonald.

Wests—Travis, R. Bell, Youson, McMillan, M. Speller, C. Robbins, E. Barnswell, Musgrave, Hutchinson, G. Bell, Reside.
Toppers—Muir, Young, Druce, Donaghue, Creed, Webster, R. Speller, Stewart, N. Sage, Jenkins, Shubrook, Foreman, Bowles, Stone and Nichols.

Premier John Hart Appeals for Mandate For Administration of High Standards

At a climactic rally of the Coalition Party in Victoria Thursday night at the Sirocco Hall, Premier John Hart appealed for a mandate of the people for the government which had provided British Columbia with the highest standard of education, the best labor laws and the best credit of any province of the Dominion.

Campaigning for the Coalition Party from the same platform were Attorney-General R. L. Maitland, K.C.; Works Minister Herbert Anson, who is seeking re-election in Oak Bay; the two Coalition candidates who are seeking re-election in Victoria with the Premier, Mrs. Nancy Hodges and W. T. Straith, K.C., along with Norman W. Whitaker, K.C., candidate in Saanich, and Cmdr. C. T. Beard, Coalition standard-bearer in Esquimalt.

The rally, which was presided over by Archie Willis, also featured Bernie Porter's orchestra. Five hundred attended.

The issue of the election, said Premier Hart, was a choice of sound business administration of government or a socialistic gamble.

Outlining the history of the Coalition Party formed following the 1941 general election in which no one party won an overall majority, Mr. Hart said the first work of his government after its formation had been to arrange with Ottawa for B.C. to make the fullest possible contribution to winning the war.

$161,000,000 COLLECTED

The province had transferred to the Dominion government, he said, the revenue resource of income tax. Although last year the Dominion collected $161,000,000 in British Columbia, the province received only $12,000,000 in lieu of its taxing right, he said.

"I am proud, and I am quite sure the people of British Columbia are proud, that they have been able to make such a great contribution to the war," he said.

The government had also increased the old-age pension to $30 per month, the mothers' allowance to $42.50 per month, and provided for free medical aid and drugs for recipients of these allowances, and had provided for the increase of the allowance for unemployed from $17 to $28 per month, he said.

British Columbia had been the first province to legalize collective bargaining, had effected a 100 per cent implementation of the Sloan report on the Workmen's Compensation Act to make its provisions the most generous in Canada, and had set up a government-labor committee to map new labor legislation, he added.

To provide for the increase to more than 5,500 students attending University of British Columbia, the province had donated $50,000 to arrange for temporary accommodation, he said, and had granted $5,000,000 to enlarge accommodation and expand the scope of education there. The government had also voted $100,000 to a bursary fund to help students who lacked the financial means to attend university.

He reiterated the government's policy on proposals to take over the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd. Since formation of the Coalition government, he said, the province's gross debt had been reduced by $14,500,000, and the net debt by $4,500,000. The province's surplus during the last four years had been $6,900,000, he said.

9-Month Coal Output Down 316,419 Tons

Output of British Columbia's coal mines, which has repeatedly for months slipped behind monthly production for 1944, at Sept. 30 was 316,419 tons behind the output for the first nine months of 1944.

Production of Vancouver Island coal mines so far this year has been 420,188 long tons, against 525,411 long tons in the first nine months of 1944. September production of island mines totaled 42,752 tons, compared with 48,322 tons in September, 1944.

Largest island producers are Comox Colliery which last month produced 20,871 tons of coal, and No. 10 Mine, South Wellington, which raised 16,660 tons last month.

East Kootenay district continues as the largest producer, having mined 52,663 tons in September, down from 78,616 tons in September, 1944.

Output of the Nicola-Princeton district was down from 6,494 tons in September, 1944, to 3,829 tons last month, while miners in the northern district raised only 920 tons last month, against 3,566 tons in September, 1944.

The general decline in coal production is due to the continuing scarcity of coal miners and other classes of mine employees and this condition has not improved since the end of hostilities.

$1,000,000 Revenue From Power Firms

Taking over by the B.C. Power Commission of the Nanaimo-Duncan Utilities Ltd., West Canadian Hydro and Columbia Power, will give the provincial government a considerable revenue, Premier John Hart told the Sirocco Hall Coalition Party's rally Thursday night.

Emphasizing the government had only loaned credit for the projects, he said the B.C. Power Commission, formed by an act of the last session of the 20th Legislature was all ready to develop Campbell River. Profits of the three electric firms the commission had taken over were $1,000,000 a year, he said.

war to peacetime economy, the province now had $17,000,000 in cash in the treasury, he said, adding $69,000,000 provincial money had been invested in Victory Bonds.

Referring to the forthcoming Dominion-Provincial conference, Premier Hart said: "I believe that it will be the most important conference since Confederation."

Of the Dominion's brief to the conference, he said: "The result of these proposals must not cause a reduction of our standard of social services. We will ask the Dominion to see the standards in other provinces are brought up to our standards, rather than our standard be brought down to theirs."

He outlined recommendations of the Dr. Max Cameron report on education costs, replying the government to implement them at the next session of the Legislature.

British Columbia, he concluded, faced a era of great prosperity.

MR. MAITLAND

In his campaign tour of the province, Mr. Maitland said he had met with a feeling of confidence in the government such as he had never noticed in 30 years of campaigning.

Of the reason for this, he said: "Our manifesto that will meet the problems of the postwar years, our manifesto that will meet the needs of British Columbia for 25 years, was no more than the government's expression of the needs and desires of the people of the province."

He explained how the Postwar Rehabilitation Council had travel to all parts of the province to study the needs of these areas, and many recommendations made to the council had been provided for already or incorporated in the Coalition government's manifesto.

Mr. Maitland, who is a candidate in Vancouver-Point Grey, mentioned the setting up of the B.C. Research Council and the B.C. Power Commission, and plans for public works to stimulate private initiative as recommendations to the council which had been implemented.

As provincial leader of the Progressive Conservatives, he said: "Anybody who runs here as an Independent Conservative is self-nominated and self-glorified, and does not represent the Conservative Party here or anywhere else."

MR. ANSCOMB

Next summer, said Mr. Anson, the government would embark on a program to develop modern highways throughout the province—a project for which ties," James Dickson, chief inspector of mines, said in his monthly report.

"The effects of overdue maintenance and development, perforce neglected during the war, are now demanding the attention of a considerable percentage of the men available with a further adverse effect on present production."

Larger Libraries Planned For City Schools

Substantial additions will be made to Victoria's school libraries immediately, J. F. K. English, municipal inspector of schools, said today.

All larger schools are being asked to submit lists of books and maps needed by their libraries, and they will be obtained probably within the next month.

The books will be mainly supplementary texts, science and social study books.

Scottish Kin Asked To Notify Headquarters

Next of kin of members of the Canadian Scottish Regiment are asked to advise Canadian Scottish Headquarters, Bay Street Armouries, of names of persons wishing to be present on arrival of the 1st Battalion in Victoria and the names of the soldiers they wish to meet, in order that arrangements can be made for space to be allotted at the point of disembarkation and at the reception.

$10,000,000 had already been provided.

"I'm going to see Vancouver Island gets its proper proportion of that money," he said, adding he believed the Coalition government was going to remain in power for a long time.

"When we have finished our work you will be able to travel all over this province on paved roads you never dreamed of before," he said.

Warning wherever Socialism had been bred dictatorship had followed, Mr. Anson said that from his travels about the province in the election campaign he was confident the government would be swept back into power.

He described the Hope-Prince George Highway, for which contracts had already been awarded, as the most far-reaching project for British Columbia since the province entered confederation.

The government had also arranged for the opening up of the B.C. northeast with the awarding of contracts for construction of the Pine Pass Highway to link Dawson Creek with Prince George, he said.

MRS. HODGES
In her first public appearance since she had been in hospital after a fall while campaigning last Friday, Mrs. Hodges, her right arm in cast and supported by a sling, appealed to her electors, saying: "I still have quite a bit of punch left in my right hand." She said she would continue to have it if she were returned to the Legislature.

Scoring C.C.F. charges the Coalition was a shotgun marriage, she contended it had been preceded with long happy courtship and had proved a successful union.

"I for one," she said, "would be very sorry to see that marriage broken up."

MR. WHITTAKER
Speaker of the last two provincial Legislatures, Mr. Whittaker said: "We have a great wealth in our natural resources and we have a great future." He added that there was no need to fear the future if the lead already given were followed.

If the C.C.F. policy were carried to the limit, he said, it would result in the death of private initiative and free enterprise.

While the C.C.F. alleged private industry could not develop the province adequately in the future, he said, British Columbians were justly proud of their initiative, their industry and their resourcefulness.

MR. STRAITH
Welcoming Mr. Hart and Mr. Maitland into the Victoria political arena, Mr. Straith said the challenge of the last five years had been the most serious in the history of the province and the next four years would be no less serious.

"We need steady and experienced hands to accomplish our purpose," he said. "We must have a government, as this government has been—enlightened and progressive."

2 Island Firms Incorporated Here

Two island firms, one an airways company, were incorporated during the week at the Parliament Buildings.

Other British Columbia incorporations were: Poulsen's Co. Ltd., Prince Rupert, $30,000; Bailey's Ltd., Trail, $40,000, and Salmon Arm Sports Centre, Salmon Arm, $50,000.

Soviet Friendship Branch Formed Here

Peace of the world depends to a large extent on understanding between the peoples of the various nations, Leon Ladner, K.C., chairman of the Vancouver branch of the National Council for Canadian-Soviet Friendship, said at a public meeting here this week.

The meeting, which formed a Victoria branch of the council, was presided over by Bishop Harold E. Sexton.

Officers elected were Maj. J. B. Simon, chairman; Mrs. Nancy Hodges, vice-chairman; W. J. R. Peers, treasurer; Dr. D. M. Baillie, Miss Violet Wilson, Sir Robert Holland, J. V. Johnson, Dr. J. W. Ewing, Alderman J. A. Worthington, Mrs. W. E. M. Mitchell, Councillor Robert Noble, C. K. Morison, M. V. Chesnut, George Wilkinson, Mrs. F. L. Hudson and Miss Ruth Kipling, executive members. A secretary will be appointed by the executive.

Served in Merchant Navy

Ensign Fred Johnstone, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Johnstone, 714 Seikirk Avenue, is in San Pedro, Cal., awaiting discharge from the American Merchant Navy after serving as an interne in a London hospital during the blitz, two trips around the world aboard Liberty ships and several passages between Southampton and New York while the submarine menace was great.

Ensign Johnstone served as purser on ships of the American West African Line and was also ship's medical officer, having taken a medical course with the U.S. Navy.

Ensign Johnstone lived in the United States for five years before enlisting. He was educated at South Park and Victoria High schools and was a member of the Y.M.C.A. in Victoria.

C.C.F. needs fighting money now to win. Treasurer, 648 Yates.

Landlord Guilty Of Trespassing

Paul Case, Cordova Bay landlord, was found guilty by Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court Thursday of trespassing on property rented by him to Leopold Reid. Judgment was reserved in the amount of general damages.

Reid claimed $590 general and special damages, alleging Case had barred the gates to a cottage at Cordova Bay, ordered the wires carrying electricity to the premises out, and had torn off a portion of the roof, exposing his furniture and personal effects.

Case told the court he had received orders from the building and sanitary inspectors, instructing him to instal new plumbing, and to repair the sagging roof. He admitted phoning the inspectors to get the orders.

Arthur Dawe was counsel for Reid.

Soap Shortage Here To Ease in 30 Days, Says W.P.T.B. Head

Harried Victoria housewives who have been trying to make one bar of washing soap do the job of 10, may expect some relief from the soap and flake shortage in 30 days, according to C. H. Booth, local representative, War-time Prices and Trade Board, today.

"Certain ingredients were short but substitutes were used, new formulas arranged and we are given to understand by the head office that the same quantity of soap will be produced and the quality will be just as good," Mr. Booth said.

"Too heavy buying, particularly in Victoria, aggravated the situation. Someone spread a rumor about a shortage and you will find that in some homes where there used to be two or three cakes of soap, at a time, there is now a case."

Taking it on the chin, along with the customers, have been the Victoria dealers who state they have been receiving control less complaints over the past six weeks since the shortage was first felt.

The situation has been growing steadily worse with small stores rationing bars and boxes of flakes while departmental stores limit the number each customer may purchase.

"It is common knowledge that the soap ingredients are going overseas, but to date neither the government nor the manufacturers have made an announcement giving the public the reason. It would help dealers considerably if the government would explain to the public, for it would save us a lot of explanation."

Local dealers said they had no idea when the shortage would ease. It has been felt all across Canada with communities like Chilliwack, particularly hit, where hard water is found. Soap sales at Chilliwack were among the highest in the Dominion, according to a report from the mainland.

The shortage, however, has not stretched to the toilet soap shelves with a good variety of such soap available.

Three Army Wives Cross Canada To Greet Husbands From Japan

Three army wives who had traveled from eastern Canada to greet their husbands were among the crowd who welcomed the latest repatriated prisoners from the Orient to come here today by way of Seattle.

They were Mrs. Peter MacDougall, wife of Lieut. MacDougall of Ottawa; Mrs. John McGreevy, wife of Lieut. McGreevy, Quebec City; Mrs. Donald Ross, wife of Lieut. Ross, Quebec City. All three officers are members of the Royal Rifles of Canada and were taken prisoner at the fall of Hongkong, Christmas Day, 1941.

As the Esquimalt Garrison Band played, "The Gang's All Here" the 69 liberated men came ashore to board buses taking them to Gordon Head Camp. They crossed the Pacific from Manila aboard the United States transport General Howze which docked in San Francisco.

Christie Brown of Nanaimo, searched anxiously through the last few repatriates boarding the last bus for the face of his brother, Frank, who was captured at Hongkong while serving with the Winnipeg Grenadiers. He had not seen him for 10 years.

When the last repatriate had boarded the waiting bus, Mr. Brown had still not found his brother.

However, he had been told Frank Brown would be coming up, so when the bus pulled out, he began to lay plans for the trip to Gordon Head where he could see his brother. From there, he hopes to take the ex-prisoner of war up to his home in Nanaimo to give him the comforts of a home for the first time in many years.

Also down with the crowd to meet the arriving repats, was Lt.-Col. T. Moore of Prince Robert House, one-time officer commanding the Winnipeg Grenadiers. Out of the arriving men, he found one of the officers who had served with him before the war. It was Maj. K. G. Baird.

MEETS OLD SCHOOL CHUM
One of the most surprised of the repats was Pte. Allan Whitman, Winnipeg Grenadiers, who found his hand shaken cordially by an old school chum, George Ingram, R.C.A.F. veteran, on holiday here.

Sgt. Maj. J. V. Thompson was met on board the ship by his wife who came here from Vancouver to greet her husband. He is with the Royal Rifles of Canada.

Capt. C. E. Price, R.R.C., who returned on the Gosper, spent a busy time greeting old comrades-in-arms as he stepped off the ship.

Thanks are extended to citizens who have so generously sent flowers for ex-prisoners of war at Gordon Head and Macaulay Point, by Ald. W. H. Davies, chairman of the welcome home committee.

Miss Lillian Saddington, secretary to the chief constable, was presented Thursday with a coffee table by members of the city police force as a token of their appreciation of her helpful work. Miss Saddington's resignation is effective Oct. 31.

R. S. Kennedy, editor of the Montreal Star, and national president of the Canadian Authors' Association, is expected in Victoria tomorrow afternoon. In the evening, he will address the Victoria branch of the Authors' Association in the Union Building.

John McMillan pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Thursday to a charge of driving in a manner dangerous to the public and was fined $30, a driver's license was suspended for one month. The court was informed McMillan's car had been involved in a collision Oct. 9 just north of Craigflower Bridge on Gorge Road.

Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court today awarded Parfitt Construction Company $103.32 which they had claimed from V. C. Dawson. The sum was for work done on two chimneys and a fireplace at Dawson's Brentwood home. J. H. L. Gillis appeared for the plaintiffs. Dawson was unrepresented.

Elwood F. Grimm was fined $30 in Saanich police court Thursday after pleading guilty to a dangerous driving charge. Grimm's car, traveling southeast along Marine Drive, struck and broke a pole at the corner of Cedar Hill Road, the court was told, then hit a tree and ricocheted west 41 feet across Cedar Hill Road.

A fine of $10 for depositing rubbish on a vacant lot, contrary to a city by-law, was imposed in police court today on Horace Taylor, who said he had removed the rubbish as soon as he found out that he should not have dumped it. Magistrate H. C. Hall said inquiries should have been made before the rubbish was deposited.

A building permit was issued to F. S. Barrett to erect a tire and general auto service station and store at 610 Herald Street, value $23,000. Permits were also issued for repair of fire damage to roof and office of the bottle warehouse at 638 Discovery Street, value $500, and to W. W. Thomson, 1365 Carnarvon Street, for a five-room house, value $5,000.

The Provincial Secretary will be approached to provide some form of nursing home care for aged men by Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman of the health committee; Ald. F. G. Mulliner, chairman of the city welfare committee; and Ald. B. J. Gadsden, chairman of the Aged Men's Home committee. Ald. Hunter said today following a meeting of the health committee.

5,000 Unlisted, Charges Bryce
More than 5,000 in Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt will be unable to vote because the government deliberately made up the voters' list in a manner designed to reduce the number eligible to vote, charged Murray Bryce, C.C.F. candidate, Thursday night.

"In the federal election a proper house-to-house enumeration resulted in 10,000 more names being listed than five years ago. The increase in the provincial election lists in the same area is less than 5,000," he said.

Mr. Bryce said the Provincial Elections Act allows the government to cancel old voters' lists and compile a new one by direct house-to-house visiting.

"Never in the history of B.C. has a complete new list been more necessary. The government ignored that fact and wilfully chose the method of using the old lists, thereby reducing the number of new residents who will be able to vote. I charge they did this undemocratic act for the most selfish reasons—they knew that most of these new people are war workers and are mostly inclined to the C.C.F.," Mr. Bryce said.

Foresees No Increase Of Purchasing Power
Maj. A. M. Jukes, Social Credit candidate in Victoria, told a meeting Friday night industrial expansion advocated by political parties, would not in any way increase the ratio of purchasing power.

"It required no stretch of imagination," he said, "to understand that, to an ever-increasing extent power-driven machinery is displacing human labor in the field of production, and for this reason we must give purchasing power to people in other ways than having to work in the usual manner." The national dividend was really a distribution of wages which machines were displacing. Such a dividend would be a source of purchasing power in addition to that provided by wages, profits, commissions and dividends.

Foresees No Increase Of Purchasing Power
Maj. A. M. Jukes, Social Credit candidate in Victoria, told a meeting Friday night industrial expansion advocated by political parties, would not in any way increase the ratio of purchasing power.

"It required no stretch of imagination," he said, "to understand that, to an ever-increasing extent power-driven machinery is displacing human labor in the field of production, and for this reason we must give purchasing power to people in other ways than having to work in the usual manner." The national dividend was really a distribution of wages which machines were displacing. Such a dividend would be a source of purchasing power in addition to that provided by wages, profits, commissions and dividends.

C.C.F. urgently needs money. Treasurer, 648 Yates.

Cecil Solly Says:

About DDT.

A great deal of publicity has been given DDT during these last months, and gardeners as well as rather uninterested bystanders have concluded that it is the answer to every problem with insects. I, therefore, have chosen the report from David H. Brannon, Washington Extension Service entomologist, as the most informative and objective survey for the citizens of this area.

He says that the material is excellent in controlling the housefly, mosquito, bedbug, and many plant insects, yet it offers little or no protection against the leafhopper, mite, other mites, cherry fruit fly (which caused such enormous losses this year), some aphids and other pests especially damaging to agriculture and horticulture.

Quoting Mr. Brannon, "It's an odd fact that DDT used against different insects which may be very similar in their habits and structure, will be highly effective in one instance and unsatisfactory in another. Examples of this are the housefly, against which DDT is so successful, and the leafhopper, which apparently is not controlled by DDT."

"When used indiscriminately, this insecticide will sometimes destroy beneficial insects which we cannot afford to be without. An example of this is the tests conducted against the codling moth this summer by the Tree Fruit branch experiment station at Puyallup. Here the DDT killed beneficial predators of the two-spotted mite, with the result that the mite population became heavy, and possibly caused as much or more damage than would have resulted from the codling moth."

"As is often true in orchard fruits the poisonous sprays necessary to control disease destroy the pollinating insects, including the honeybee. For this reason some orchardists have to import honeybees every season. DDT, too, is harmful to these pollinating insects."

Because DDT is still obviously in the experimental stages, and is effective only for certain purposes and under certain conditions, we, the general public, should investigate our problem thoroughly before applying this powerful insecticide.

"Tests prove that the residue of DDT is a hazard when on plants consumed by man or animals; also, the poison dissolved in oil is readily absorbed externally through the skin and should be handled with caution. Other limitations of the insecticide are that excessive amounts on plants may cause burning or wilting and too much DDT in the soil may retard plant growth."

But, despite these handicaps, the "miracle" insecticide is the best thing available for certain of man's worst insect enemies.

KILLS BEDBUGS

Brannon said that it is reportedly the "perfect answer" to the bedbug problem. In certain countries the army has found this extremely useful. When properly applied as a 5 per cent spray, or a 10 per cent powder to mattresses, and in this country we have already used it in poultry houses, these places will remain free of bedbugs for six months or longer from only one application.

In addition to the bedbug, housefly, mosquito and other insects, DDT is said to be effective against the cockroach, flea, brown dog tick, some species of ants, and certain insects attacking vegetables, cereal and fruit crops, logs and woodwork of buildings, and stored seeds.

For those who may appreciate the chemical or technical names of its contents, DDT is the contraction for "dichloro-diphenyl-trichloroethane," and is a product obtained "when one molecule of chloral and two molecules of monochlorobenzene react with one another in the presence of concentrated sulfuric acid."

DDT was first prepared in Germany, away back in 1874, by a student at Strassburg University. The fact that this new chemical product had possibilities as an insecticide was not, apparently, discovered, however, until 1939, when one of the employees of the J. E. Geigy Company of Basle, Switzerland, obtained good results in controlling the Colorado potato beetle.

Mr. Brannon concludes: "Because of the excellent control which DDT had of insects attacking man, practically all of this material produced in this country was allocated to the armed forces. The military used this material effectively in wholesale application against mosquitoes and other pests. However, there is a great deal yet to be learned about DDT."

CURRENT ITEMS IN THE GARDEN

Clean up and burn all the dead vines and corn stalks and weeds and berry canes and any vegetable matter that has any signs of disease or insects.

Harvest everything for your reserve food supply. Even though you don't need points now for foods, they are still high priced. After cold weather starts the things from your own garden will taste mighty good and will save you real money on your weekly grocery bill.

The compost is the right place for any clean refuse that is not too woody to decompose readily. For your spring garden, plant the invaluable green manure. This priceless addition of humus and food from spaded-in or plowed-in vetch and rye just cannot be bought. When your ground is clear of all crops and has been cleaned up, rake in some winter rye and vetch, just buy some chicken scratch at the feed store. It will do just as well.

The seed will sprout and grow several inches yet this fall. Then, about a month before you plant your spring garden, spade the green well under. This will rot and form the most valuable humus. The roots of the green manure are just as beneficial as the green tops.

Don't put off until spring what you can do this fall. If you have barnyard manure available, or know of some place to get it, put it on fresh now and turn it under with the fall plowing. It will save all the value and be well rotted by spring, whereas if left on top of the soil it loses much. Fall plowing is the best. Ground, especially the heavy clay soils, are greatly benefited by being left "rough" in deep furrows all winter long.

IN THE MATTER OF THE BANKRUPTCY OF HAROLD LESLIE JOHNSON

Tenders for the purchase of the assets of the business known as Alberta Coal Company of Victoria, B.C., will be received by the Minister of Public Works, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., up to 12 o'clock noon, Wednesday, October 26, 1945. For particulars apply to George W. H. Dalby & Co., Ltd., 1405 Douglas Street, Victoria, B.C. Neither the highest nor any offer necessarily accepted.

Dated this 17th day of October, 1945.

G. O. CUMFORTH, Trustee in Bankruptcy.

808 Bank of Toronto Building, 1405 Douglas Street, Victoria, B.C.

Notice to Contractors

PEACE RIVER HIGHWAY
East Pine Progress Section

Separate sealed tenders endorsed "Tender for Peace River Highway, East Pine Progress Section" will be received by the Minister of Public Works, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., up to 12 o'clock noon, Wednesday, October 26, 1945, and opened in public at that time and date, for the following described work:

Construction of Highway from East Pine to Progress approximately 38 miles.

Plans, specifications, etc., may be obtained from the undersigned on deposit of the sum of fifty dollars ($50.00). This deposit will be refunded upon the return of the plans, etc., in good condition within a period of one month after the receipt of tenders.

Tenders must be accompanied by an accepted cheque made payable to the Minister of Public Works for an amount equal to fifteen per cent (15%) of the total amount of the tender. This deposit will be forfeited if the tenderer declines to enter into contract, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for.

Only firms who were registered and operating in Canada on the first day of January, 1944, will be eligible to tender on the above work.

The cheques of unsuccessful tenders will be returned to them when the contract has been awarded.

Tenders must be made out on the forms supplied and enclosed in the envelope furnished.

Tenders must submit with their tenders a list of the type and capacity of the equipment owned by them or that they propose to rent for use in carrying out the work and stating where the equipment is located so that it may be inspected if necessary. Equipment must be listed as owned or rented as the case may be.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A. L. CARRUTHERS, Chief Engineer.

The DOCTOR Says:

FLU SIGNS SOMETIMES MEAN BRUCELLOSIS

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

A young basketball player reported to the team physician for an examination in mid-season. The coach had used him in every game, but lately the player hadn't felt quite well. He seemed to tire easily and thought he had a little fever at times. A specimen of blood was sent to the public health laboratories, where tests showed he had brucellosis. Later the physician learned he had been drinking raw milk which came from infected cows.

Brucellosis also is known as Malta fever, or undulant fever. Infection develops from one to three weeks after exposure, with first symptoms resembling influenza. Weakness is the outstanding complaint. Most of the patients perspire a great deal and have aching pains. Appetite is impaired and constipation is present. Other complaints are inability to sleep, restlessness and an irritable disposition.

PATIENTS USUALLY RECOVER

Sometimes the disease develops in a more insidious way, as in the case of the young basketball player. Brucellosis runs a course of variable length, with the patient recovering as a rule. Other cases go into the chronic stage and after a time it may be difficult to distinguish brucellosis patients from those suffering with nervous exhaustion.

Chronic brucellosis is always considered when patients com-

Missionaries Discuss Overseas Work

Speaking on their own particular field of mission work, five men and one woman addressed a men's mass meeting in Metropolitan United Church, Thursday night, during the observance of the Missionary Centenary of Canadian Churches. Shown above, left to right, are: Dr. A. A. Scott, principal of Indore College, Central India, United Church; Dr. John Smart, a native of Sierra Leone, from Toronto and formerly a missionary in India; Miss Dorothy Franklin, Canadian Baptist Foreign Mission Board, from Bolivia; Rev. Edward Bragg, Presbyterian Church, British Guiana, and Dr. K. J. Beaton, missionary education secretary of the United Church of Canada at Toronto and formerly missionary in China.

plain of weakness, fever, aches and pains and discomfort in various parts of the body. Complications develop in the eyes, mouth, lungs, liver, bile ducts, spleen and skin. Diagnosis is made from history and blood examinations. Disease signs may persist in the blood long after the infection has subsided.

CONTRACTED FROM ANIMALS

Brucellosis has been known for over 50 years. The usual source of the disease in man is infected cattle, swine and goats. Germs enter the body by way of the skin, or through swallowing infected food or drink.

Treatment of brucellosis during the acute stage is good nursing, sulfa drugs, and care of complications. The more acute the disease, the better the result from the sulfa. If the infection resists the sulfa drugs, fever treatments are sometimes prescribed. Treatment of chronic brucellosis is not so satisfactory, but general vaccines have been used with varying success.

When the disease develops into the chronic stage, the body finds it more difficult to overcome the infection. During the convalescent stage, it is often necessary for the physician to prescribe a regular program of rest, exercise, diet and encouragement since the infection has a tendency to exhaust the individual.

Choice Demerrara On Sale Here Soon

Hoarded by the Liquor Control Board for more than three years, choice demerrara rum is now on sale in some liquor-vendor stores in B.C., and will be available in Victoria shortly, W. F. Kenedy, chairman of the commission, said Thursday.

The rum, which has been put to 70 proof, will sell for $4.25 for 25 ounces.

It may be secured on the same basis as other spirits on the ration.

$2 now may mean C.F. victory, Treasurer, 648 Yates. ***

How You Can Get Quick Relief From Sore, Painful Piles

Most people seem to think the only way to get relief from their sore, painful piles is by local treatment. Local treatment may give temporary relief from the itching but you can easily see why such treatment will not correct the cause of your pain.

No lasting freedom from pile misery can be had until the cause of the trouble is corrected. Piles are due to internal causes as the best way to get lasting relief is to treat them internally with a medicine like Hem-Roid.

Hem-Roid is a formula that has been used for over 40 years by thousands of pile sufferers. It is a small, highly concentrated tablet, easy and pleasant to use. This cleverly compounded tablet formula directs its medicinal action to the seat of the trouble, directly to the congested area that is the real cause of your pain. Hem-Roid promotes free, easy and comfortable bowel movements, quickly relieves itching, irritation and promotes healthy circulation in the lower bowel. With good blood

We invite you to try Hem-Roid and let it prove itself. You can make your test, in the privacy of your home. NO COST if you are not convinced that this is an amazingly easy and thoroughly effective method of treating your sore, painful piles.

Get a package of Hem-Roid today from any drug store and use it as directed for JUST FIVE DAYS. At the end of that time if you are not absolutely sure Hem-Roid is the sure, easiest and most effective pile treatment you ever used, return the unused portion of the package to your drugstore and he will promptly refund your money.

NOTE: The generous offer is backed by a reliable firm doing business in Canada for a good many years. Hem-Roid must help your pile condition quickly, easily and pleasantly or this simple, easy test costs you nothing. Try it today.

BOTH MALE AND FEMALE CARDINALS UTTER PLEASING SONGS

Several birds have been named because of the color of their feathers. These include the blue-bird, the yellow-bird, the black-bird and the redbird.

The yellow-bird has the more common name of goldfinch. Sometimes people speak of it as the yellow warbler or wild canary.

The redbird also has other names. Very often it is called the cardinal or cardinal bird. Still other names are Virginia cardinal, Kentucky cardinal, Virginia nightingale and cardinal grosbeak.

With all those names, we might expect a great deal from a bird, and the cardinal is indeed an excellent singer with a brilliant coat.

Many birds have some red feathers, but the male cardinal is as red as a bird as you will find anywhere. All of his feathers are red except for a few around the head and neck.

In most bird families, only the males sing. Among the cardinals, however, the females, as well as the males, utter pleasing songs. The females have mixed plumage of olive-grey and buff, with reddish feathers which seem faded.

Like mockingbirds, cardinals are birds of the New World. They are most common in southern parts of the United States, but they nest from Nova Scotia and Ontario to Texas and Arizona. A special kind has the name of Arizona cardinal, and another kind is the Florida cardinal.

Cardinals belong to the finch family, and so do grosbeaks. Like the cardinals, grosbeaks are slightly smaller than robins.

The rose-breasted grosbeak has red feathers on its breast. The rest of its feathers are black or white.

Many Pennsylvania farmers call the rose-breasted grosbeak the "potato bug bird." This name points to the fact that it eats potato-blossoms when it can get them.

Grosbeaks of one kind or another are found in most parts of North America. There are blue grosbeaks, evening grosbeaks, black-headed grosbeaks, and pine grosbeaks. Pine grosbeaks are fairly common in many woodlands of Canada where pine or juniper trees grow.

Youth Fined $50

A $50 fine or one month in jail was imposed in court Thursday on 20-year-old Richard A. N. Laming for smashing windows at Central Junior High School. He had pleaded guilty to a charge of willfully damaging property under the value of $20.

The youth also was ordered to pay $19.50 damages or in default a week in jail.

City Prosecutor Claude Harrison informed the court that during the first nine months of this year, damage totaling $822 had been done to city schools.

A.R.P. Workers Given Honor Certificates

Civil Defence workers of District 10 were presented their honor certificates by Capt. D. J. Proudfoot at the final meeting of the district, Wednesday, in Sir James Douglas School.

More than 100 attended the meeting and heard George W. Russell, district warden, pay tribute to the work of Inspector A. H. Bishop, Capt. Proudfoot, Barrie Gault and F. Anscombe.

He announced medical supplies and foodstuffs on hand will be presented to the Queen Alexandra Solarium. Bandages and splints will be given to the Boy Scouts. Funds remaining in the treasury will be donated to the Community Chest.

Color, Romance In Dominion Film

Advance reports on Columbia Pictures', "The Fighting Guardsman," which starts its engagement at the Dominion Theatre today, say that it is a thundering spectacle of love and adventure storming on to the screen from Alexandre Dumas' stirring novel, "The Companions of Jehu." Film fans who go for costume pictures filled with swashbuckling action, flashing swordplay and tender romance, and what one doesn't, are promised complete satisfaction at the screen adaptation of this well-known masterpiece. All the magnificent pageantry, the sweeping power of that turbulent era in 18th century France, just preceding the Revolution, are said to be graphically portrayed and recreated by the magic which is motion pictures.

Don Cossacks Coming Here

A USO tour that turned into a sentimental journey into the past, was the experience of the 30 tall Cossacks of the original Don Cossack Chorus and their diminutive leader, Serge Jaroff, during the past summer. Taking three months from their busy concert schedule, which under impresario S. Huruk's guidance, keeps them traveling through more than a 100 cities and towns in the United States each season, the singing giants of the steppes embarked early in June for the European theatre of operations, to sing their lusty folk songs, exalted church music, and galloping Cossack and soldier rounds for American servicemen overseas.

The sentimental touch comes from the fact that between the night in 1920, when choirmaster Jaroff decided the little group of ragged soldiers, torn from their Don Valley homes by war and revolution, could become a great singing ensemble, and the summer day in 1939 when they escaped once more before the guns of war to America, some of their greatest triumphs came to them in the cities of Europe.

They lived for years in Paris, and sang at the great Salle Pleyel. Not a city or town in France, Belgium, Holland, but has its memories for them. The opera houses in Cologne and Frankfurt echoed to their powerful organ tones, not once, but eight or 10 times a season, and it was at the little Rhine village of Bad Ems, some 30 miles south of Cologne, that their bus once tried to climb a tree, and they spent their next several concert engagements in the hospital.

For a few of the Cossacks the journey was one of search for dear ones who were left behind in 1939, and were never able to follow after. Some of them have not been heard from throughout the war years.

The Slav songsters will appear here on Wednesday at the Royal Victoria Theatre.

YORK THEATRE
 James Cagney is starred in the thrilling story of Warner Bros. "Frisco Kid," now at the York Theatre. The film tells of the colorful but lawless Barbary Coast of old San Francisco where the vigilantes took the law into their own hands and the underworld ran openly in defiance of decency.

James Cagney as Bat Morgan is one of the many taken in by the tumultuous gold rush days when adventurers from all over the world came to Frisco's waterfront. Bat, an ignorant, crude sailor but a man of tremendous force, arrives in San Francisco only to be robbed of the little he had. Deciding that the only way to get ahead is to play along with the leaders of the underworld, he rises to be master of the coast and falls in love with the most beautiful and most respected girl in San Francisco.

'Valley of Decision' Coming to Capitol

Tay Garnett and Donald Crisp are professionally associated for the first time in 20 years when Crisp reports to M-G-M to begin his role as William Scott, Pittsburgh steel manufacturer, in "The Valley of Decision," the Greer Garson-Gregory Peck starring picture, which Garnett directed and which opens Monday at the Capitol Theatre.

Twenty years ago Garnett wrote movie scripts which Crisp directed at the Pathe-DeMille studio in Culver City. When they severed that association—Crisp, to become an actor, and Garnett, a director—Garnett, the fledgling director, promised Crisp, the fledgling actor, that one day he, Garnett, would direct Crisp in a motion picture.

It took 20 years for the promise to come true.

CAPITOL THEATRE
 Humphrey Bogart, currently co-starring with Alexis Smith and Sydney Greenstreet in Warners' "Conflict," at the Capitol Theatre, makes a hobby of collecting signatures of infamous people. He will soon add to it one by the most notorious writer of our times—Adolph Hitler.

The actor's agent has informed him that he has found the manuscript of an interview with Hitler written by a reporter for the newspaper Paris Soir, in 1938. The manuscript was read by the No. 1 Nazi and bears editorial corrections in his hand. In it Hitler said he would always respect French boundaries. The concluding line was revised in pen and ink and made to read: "This is my solemn pledge to France." It is signed "Adolph Hitler."

CAPITOL THEATRE
 For the first time in screen history, a seven-year-old starlet wears clothes created especially for her by a great designer.

The actress is Margaret O'Brien, the cuttiest of Irene, executive designer for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, the picture in which these juvenile fashions will be seen is "Music for Millions," which is now at the Cadet Theatre.

RIO THEATRE
 Columbia Pictures' "Kansas City Kitty," latest starring comedy for radio's top comedienne, Joan Davis, currently at the Rio Theatre. Featured in the cast are Jane Frazee, Bob Crosby, Erik Rolf, Tim Ryan, Robert Emmett Keane and the Williams brothers. It was directed by Del Lord.

Implacable Sails As Victorians Watch

Small groups of Victorians, standing on Dallas Road in the fine drizzle at 3.30 Thursday afternoon, watched the mist-dimmed shape of the British aircraft carrier H.M.S. Implacable, as she put to sea from Brothie Ledge.

At Brothie Ledge, the huge ship dropped her pilot, Capt. Samuel Dawe, who guided her down the Gulf of Georgia from Vancouver. Her pilot off, the vessel got under way and shaped her course past Race Rocks for deep sea.

ALPINE ADVENTURE
 "The White Tower," by James Ramsey Ullman (J. Lippincott and Co.)

DESCRIBED by an eastern critic as the "finest authentic story of mountaineering since Whympers' "Conquest of the Matterhorn," this novel tells of the attempt of five men and one woman to conquer a great Alpine peak, "The White Tower." The six adventurers meet by accident. Martin Ordway is an American flier who was compelled to bail out over Kandersteg in Switzerland. Dr. Nicholas Radcliffe is an English geologist who is supposed to have accompanied Mallory in his tragic ascent of Everest in 1934. There is Carla Dehn, Viennese girl refugee who hates the Nazis. Siegfried Hein is a Nazi officer on leave and a typical superman. The other two are Paul Delambre, French decadent and professed nihilist, and Andreas Benner, the guide to whom conquest of the mountain represents the ideal of a lifetime.

The author has packed his story of the climb and the splitting up of the party with drama and a revaluation of human nature climaxed with the death of Hein, the most experienced mountaineer of the all.

There are fine descriptive passages, too. Mr. Ullman writes of the mountain: "Its glaciers rose from its buttresses, its buttresses to its trunk, its trunk to its ridges, its ridges, up, up, past crag and shoulder, precipice and ice wall, to the last gleaming crown of summit snow."
